DROPPED DEAD.
Mr. Casper Elwood, an Old Citizen, Taken Away Suddenly.
HEART DISEASE THE CAUSE.

Casper Elwood, a resident of Deatur since 1866, and an active business man for over thirty years, is numbered with the great majority, having died suddenly of heart disease this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at his home, No. 270 West North street, in the 65th year of his age.
Mr. Elwood was never strong and robust, has been in poor health for a number of years. During the past eighteen months he had been under the care of a physician for an affection of the heart, and for a week past he had been confined to his home. He was able to be up and around the house, and was at dinner to-day, apparently feeling as well as ever. He left the table in his usual spirits and passed into his room. Stopping to pick up an article which had fallen upon the floor, he suddenly fell and expired in a few moments. Dr. Cass, Chenoworth was hastily summoned, but the death messenger had entered the home and the active man of business, personally known by hundreds of people in Deatur and vicinity, had obeyed the final summons and was at rest.
Mr. Elwood was born in New York state in 1827, and was aged 65 years. He came to Deatur in the year 1866, and has since made this city his home. He was a merchant tailor by occupation during the early years of his life in Deatur, entering the old clothing firm of J. R. Buse & Co., of which he was a member, and when the Buse Clothing Manufacturing company was formed he became a stockholder. He was always an active business partner, and in the management of the establishment his loss will be severely felt. He was a member of Macon Lodge No. 8, Masonic order, and of the Universalist church. Deceased leaves a widow, who is a sister of Mrs. D. L. Baun of this city and of Mrs. Linkham of St. Louis, and he leaves a sister who resides in Canada. His children are Cliff and Frank Elwood and Misses Cora and Lulu Elwood.
The announcement of the death of Mr. Elwood will be read with sorrow by the people of this community. They have met him in business, in the church and in social gatherings, and all know him to have been a good citizen, an honorable business man, and a true friend to those who sought his advice, his aid and sympathy. Politically deceased was a Republican, and as a citizen he was ever ready to advance the interests of Deatur.
The store of the Buse Clothing store was closed this afternoon. The arrangements for the funeral will be announced to-morrow.
Matrimonial.
Last evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride, 507 South Broadway, John Cunningham and Miss Emma Layton were united in marriage by Rev. B. C. Oke.
The guests present were Messrs. and Mesdames Cunningham, Sam Mount, William Cunningham, William Logan, Howard Hardin of Mowasqua, Mrs. Bramble, Misses Ollie and Belle Reed, Mollie Leeb, Eva Logan, Carrie and Sallie Shockey, Carrie and Jessie Heckler, Alice Purdies, Adelle Bartlett, Anne and Bettie Layton and Ed Gray, Ed Parlier, Robert Morgan, Art Martin, Joe Burt, Jim Hardin, Hugh, Lige and George Logan, Will Price, Phil Hammond, Joe and Joe Logan, Louis West.
Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham received a number of presents. After the ceremony a bountiful supper was served. Music was furnished by the Silver Star string band, with Ed Fowler as leader.
Will of the Late Thomas Higga.
The last will of the late Thomas Higga, the eccentric old gentleman who died in Long Creek township recently, aged 93 years, was admitted to probate in the county court to-day. He left to his wife, Margaret Higga, forty acres of land in section 20, township 16, north range 3 east; also 20 acres in 34, 15, 5, and all the personal property and money that may be left after the debts and funeral expenses are paid; the property to be held by the widow during her lifetime. The will was executed June 25, 1889, and was signed in the presence of Marion Kizer and Thomas G. Travis. The executor is M. B. Kizer.
Whist Party.
Mrs. Charles E. Brown gave a charming whist party last evening at her home 539 East Eldorado street in honor of her sister, Miss Elsie Shields. Delicacies and refreshments were served by the hostess. The favors were won by Frank Bunn and Miss Kate Harwood. The company included Misses Edna Bunn, Dot Freeman, Jessie Harwood, Katie Harwood, Mae Paries, Bernice Paries, Grace Baldwin, Ida Reame, Mrs. George Dodson, and Miss Elsie Shields, and Messrs. Kyle Dolan, E. P. Irving, C. G. Dotwin, F. B. Mueller, George Dodson, David Cloyd, Fred Baldwin, Frank Bunn and C. H. Brown.
A Serious Fall.
Mrs. George McCulloch who with her husband and little child came from Des Moines Ia., to this city about three weeks ago, met with a painful accident on Lincoln square this afternoon. She was shopping and in walking upon the ice lost her footing and fell in such a manner as to fracture her leg. Mrs. McCulloch was picked up and taken to her home which is over Rose's clothing store where she is being attended by Dr. Hill. This is a serious accident to befall strangers in a strange place, and some of our kind-hearted porters, when they read this, should bear that fact in mind.
Clash Party.
The Y. L. L. O. Club gave a card party at the home of Miss Rachel Kuhn at No. 1012 East William street last evening. Those present were Misses Jessie Keston, Tillie Dixon, Alice Burkans, Emma Willis, Messrs. Charles Dixon, Bert Crane, Archie Schultze, Harry Oshard. Refreshments were served at 12 o'clock.

Chat About the New Government Building for Deatur.
Postmaster Hubbard a few days ago received an official communication from Washington City in reference to the new postoffice building Deatur is likely to get some day, Congressman Owen Scott having introduced H. R. bill No. 85, to give us a $100,000 stone structure. The letter of inquiry comes from W. J. Ed-brooke, supervising architect for the government, at London is called to the bill pending in Congress and Edward Hubbard was asked a number of questions about the Deatur postoffice and the city. The queries are condensed as follows:
Give amount of postal receipts ending June 30, 1891, and ending June 30, 1891, your opinion as to the probable amount of what would be the next years and reasons for estimate; number of persons employed in the office in '91, and present number of employees; amount of space now in use in office; different departments, and opinion as to proper accommodations for the next ten years; number of postoffice boxes, future needs, etc.; your careful opinion, based upon actual knowledge of what would be the probable cost of land, central and convenient in location to business and the public, suitable for a site of the proposed building; population in 1891, and in 1901, your opinion as to the prospective commercial growth of the city in the next ten years and reasons for conclusions.
Postmaster Hubbard has sent in his reply to all points made in the letter. He stated that in his opinion a suitable lot could not be secured for less than $15,000 to $20,000; but did not indicate where the site should be. That matter will be attended to after the appropriation is made. It will probably be located somewhere on Water or Main street, possibly somewhere down town. Where do you want it?

Waiting Pastor Miller's Decision.
The committee appointed by the Congregationalists to make a report on the resignation of Rev. W. O. Miller as pastor, submitted a report at the prayer meeting services last evening. It was to the effect that Mr. Miller would consider the action of the church in the matter, which was unanimously against acceptance of the resignation, but as yet the committee had not received the decision of the pastor. He has been offered a long vacation. The church people hope he will decide to remain. If Rev. Miller resigns permanently it will be out of consideration for his health.
Sleeping Party.
A number of ladies and gentlemen spent a most enjoyable time last night at the home of Aloca Eysan, one and a half miles north of Barnumtown. The party drove out from Deatur in a large bobbed. STRUCK BY A TRAIN.
"Badge" Stevens a Frozen Corpse—Found on the Railroad.
THE BODY DISCOVERED IN THE SNOW.

Deceased was a Son of Old Settler, Joe Stevens—Intoxicated and on His Way Home He Met his Death Last Night.
Daniel Stevens, familiarly known as "Badge" Stevens, was accidentally killed at some unknown hour last night while on his way to his cabin home in the vicinity of the Bundy sawmill across the Sangamon river, north and west of the St. Louis bridge. His frozen body was found at an early hour this morning about 30 feet below the West Main street crossing of the Wabash, lying alongside the railroad track. The back of his head was crushed in and there was every indication that he had been struck by a train, while on his way to the river to cross the bridge. Where the body lay the snow was tramped down considerably. Possibly Stevens was not instantly killed. He may have attempted to get up, and failing to succeed, he lay there and froze to death.
Coroner Bendure was on his way to Mount Zion at 6 o'clock this morning to attend the funeral of the late Thomas Smith, when he got word from home by telephone that he was wanted to take charge of the body of Stevens. The coroner went to Undertaker Brintringer to go out after the body, and he would arrive from Mt. Zion this afternoon and hold the inquest. The body is now at the undertaker's room.
It is learned that Badge Stevens, who was about 60 years of age and much addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors, was in Deatur yesterday and last night as late as nine o'clock, in company with James Warrick, he was in May Bros' grocery store. Both men were drunk. Stevens had to hold on to the counter as he passed out of the store. The last seen of Stevens alive in the city so far as known. It is supposed that Stevens had started for home, and that while he was passing down the railroad track and staggering along, he was struck by one of the three passenger trains which came in after 9 o'clock. Stevens must have stepped off the track in the snow as the train approached. He may have staggered or fallen over to be struck on the head as the train passed him. Possibly the exact manner of his death will never be known. When and where Stevens parted company with Warrick cannot be ascertained at this hour. The two men were last seen together at May Bros' store. Warrick is employed at the Bundy saw mill.
Badge Stevens was a son of the late Joseph Stevens, who for many years was known as the oldest settler of Macon county. Deceased's step mother, who was the second wife of Joseph, is now making her home with E. M. Cunningham. He was the father of three grown daughters who are married. "Badge" was a character in his way. He was personally known to many old residents. He was his own worst enemy, and he knew it, but the drink habit had such a grip on him that he could not or would not quit.
HAD JUST TWO CENTS.
At 6 o'clock Stevens and Warrick entered May Bros' store and wanted to get some goods on credit, but Will Cox, the salesman, was in the store alone, and said he had no orders to give them credit and they would have to call when the proprietors were in. They came back at about 9 o'clock, and Warrick had a talk with Davis May. Both men were so drunk that they could scarcely make themselves understood. Warrick wanted credit for about $30 a week. Stevens had a lot of silver money in his right hand, and Davis said that he didn't believe they wanted anything, if they did Stevens had money and could pay for it. At that time Stevens was going out of the door, and Warrick said: "All I've got is 15 cents," and then went out. They did not return to the store. When Stevens was discovered this forenoon, he had but two cents on his person; no silver whatever.
CAUSE UNKNOWN.
Death by accident seems to have raged in the Stevens family. Along in the 40's a brother of Badge met his death in a tragic manner when he fell down the covered stairway at the old Germania Hall, on South Main street, the fall breaking his neck. This brother had just recovered from the small-pox. He was given to drink like Badge, and when he got out he visited his old haunts and met his death shortly afterwards in the manner described.

CASES IN COURT.
Argument in the Foster Case to be Heard—Docket Entries.

The hearing of testimony in the W. W. Foster assault case was concluded in the circuit court last evening, an argument will be heard probably not before Monday. John Brockway, Jack Rouse, Harry Midkiff, M. P. Murphy, W. W. Muscoe, and E. McClellan were among the witnesses. Senator Herman Mamecke an ex-supervisor from Oakley, was on the stand. The witness was a member of the board who Foster was a member. He was also a member of the Peace and Salary committee which started the investigation out of which this suit grew. In '89 the board of supervisors adopted a resolution fixing the salary of the officers and provided among other items in the sheriff's list for "$1,000 per annum for deputy hire." The sheriff's bill always came in $1,000 for deputy hire, and the attorneys wanted to find if the entire sum was paid to one man. Mamecke couldn't tell, but he had always believed that John Maury had received the money.

SPITTLER-SAITH.
A Marriage Out of the Ordinary at San Antonio, Texas.
The following special telegram appeared in the Chicago Herald 17-day:
SANT ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 20.—The marriage of George H. Spittler, a prominent young business man of Deatur, Ill., and Miss Ida B. Smith of the same city, took place here yesterday. Miss Smith and her brother, who was a prominent young banker of Deatur, arrived here a few days ago. Mr. Smith was in very poor health, and his condition rapidly grew worse, death resulted on Saturday evening. Mr. Spittler was the lover of Miss Smith and arrived here today to console her in her bereavement. They decided that it would be perfectly proper for them to hasten their marriage in view of the circumstances under which they were placed, and the wedding occurred in the Menger hotel this evening. They left tonight for Deatur, leaving in their charge the remains of the bride's brother.
There are several errors in the above telegram. Mr. Spittler is in business at Mt. Zion, not Deatur, and the bride's home is near Mt. Zion. Tom Smith was not a banker. He was a young farmer.
W. B. Jacobs' Sorrow.
A great bereavement has fallen upon W. B. Jacobs, secretary of the State Sunday school association of Illinois, says the Paris Review. For several years past his daughter, Mrs. Cotton, together with her husband, has been laboring in the mission fields of Africa, but a few months since Mr. Cotton's health began to fail and it was found that in order to save his life he must seek rest and a change of climate. Accordingly, accompanied by his wife, he embarked for America, being expected in Chicago not later than Christmas, but thus far nothing has been heard of them. Mr. Jacobs has telegraphed far and wide but without result and the conviction is slowly being forced upon him that they must have died en route. The case has evoked the earnest sympathy of Sunday-school workers all over the state, as through his long and active service, Mr. Jacobs has come to be known and loved in nearly every town and hamlet in Illinois. We are sure that all our readers will join in the hope that they may receive the news of their inevitable delay, and that they may eventually reach home in safety.
Corro Gordoans Trucked.
Yesterday morning a mysterious stranger arrived at Corro Gordo with a quantity of tin for a new depot building, with a 180-foot front, that he said was soon to be erected. He bargained with a brick maker for 2,100 bricks, with a lumber dealer for a $23,000 bill of lumber, hired a carpenter to put the material on the ground, he notified off, borrowed $175 from his family and took the first train out of town. He was followed, but as yet has not been captured.
